The pastors of the North and South Methodist churches at Paducah have issued a memorial to the churches at Hickman, praying them to consider more earnestly some plans for the reunion of the two branches.

Our City Hall is to be renovated, or almost rebuilt in the present form, with opera chairs, modern stage, scenery, etc. It is greatly to be desired. The plan as shown will convert the old rocky affair into a light, cheerful, fashionable hall.

LADIES. Please send me your address, and I will mail you, free, R. Butterick & Co's catalogues, illustrating all the new European and American fashions.

JOHN ASHLEY, 109 Louisville, Ky.

MASS MEETING.—A Temperance mass meeting will be held at the Methodist church, next Sunday eve, the 19th, at 4 o'clock, p. m. Some of the Temperance men, old ones in the cause, and young ones too, will address the meeting. A very interesting meeting is anticipated, and let everybody turn out.

Next Sunday services at the Catholic Church at the usual hour. At 7:30 p. m. Father Anastasio will give a series of lectures on Revelation and Revealed Christianity. The first lecture will be on "The Greatest Historical Fact. The Reverend lecturer proposes to show the fallacy of modern Positivism and unbelief in general, and to meet the opponents of Christianity on their own ground.

CIRCLE OF SAFETY.—Our young friend, C. H. Huggins, will organize the Circle of Safety at the Odd Fellows Temple, next Monday night, Sept. 20th, 1880. The Circle of Safety is a purely temperance order, and its work is strictly reformatory and educational character. There are no restrictions in regard to age; its object being to save and educate the young, and reform the middle aged and old. It is doubtless a good thing, (all temperance movements are) and our citizens would do well to assist in the movement.

NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS, NEW GOODS.

KILLED BY A HICKMAN BOY.—Intelligence has just reached us that Charles Gourley, who left Hickman some time since, to cast his fortune in the far West, was attacked by a miner, Jack Collins, who attempted to cut Charles with a knife, when Gourley drew a pistol and shot Collins dead, in self defense. We are sorry that one of our Hickman boys should be compelled, even in self defense, to sacrifice and take the life of a fellow being. We are sorry that Charles is engaged in the occupation he is, and think that had he been following a more legitimate calling this sad affair would not have happened. No news as to the trial has reached us.

SENTENCED FOR LIFE.

Rans and Mary Wade, Brother and Sister, Convicted of Murder.

The Jury in the case of Rans and Mary Wade, brother and sister, on Saturday last returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed their punishment at confinement in the State penitentiary for life. The verdict caused considerable surprise, especially among the legal fraternity who very generally expected an acquittal. A majority of public sentiment, however, sustained the verdict of the Jury. At the time the offence occurred the feeling against the Wades was very strong, but being delayed from court to court, the excitement subsided and the opinion gradually obtained that they would escape any severe punishment, and in the meantime considerable sympathy sprang up for the unfortunate pair. The HISTORY OF THE CASE, is briefly:

Rans, Wade and Mary Wade, are brother and sister. They lived some 4 miles from Hickman, in this county, kept house together for years, and was raising a little niece 2 years old. These three were the only occupants of the household. It became understood in the neighborhood that Mary Wade was enceinte, and as the report progressed it became aggravated by the intimation that Rans Wade, her brother, was the father of the unborn child or children. The report of this terribly outrageous relation, spread great excitement, and many persons were on the alert to detect the truth. This excitement was still further aggravated by the report that Mary had given birth to a child, and that it had been found dead in the yard. At this stage of the affair, certain neighbors approached Rans Wade and plainly told him the accusation that existed against himself and sister. Rans replied that the report was a "d—d lie!" Steps were taken to have the officers investigated the matter, and while the investigation was in this condition, the Wades (Mary yet in child-bed), fled the State. The officers pursued and captured them at Union City, Tenn., brought them back, and placed them in the county jail, where they have been confined since.

On the Sunday of their flight, citizens visited the Wade premises, and in a corner of the yard they found fresh earth, covered with plants, and digging down they found a canal, but containing the bodies of newly born.

TWIS BARRER, well developed, and one of them unusually large. E. J. W. Mays summoned a jury of inquest, and sent for Dr. A. A. Faris, of Hickman, to conduct the autopsy. The examination proved that the skulls of the children had been crushed as with some heavy instrument, and their bodies otherwise bruised and mangled. The examination indicated that the lungs of one child had been inflated—had breathed, and the blood in which they were buried was found full of blood. It was in evidence on the trial that Mrs. Huffman, a midwife, of 45 years experience, had visited Mary Wade, and by examination had found the child properly presented, and all indications favorable and healthy. Mrs. Huffman notified her of her true condition, and warned her that she must have the attention of some doctor. It appears that both Rans Wade and his sister were fully apprized and cognizant of the situation, and on the night of the execution did not call either a doctor or any other help or witness, and after the occurrence concealed and denied the fact.

The defense was very ably conducted by Capt. Randle, and Tyler & Tyler. They admitted the birth of the bastard children—but denied any concealment as to birth or flight, and denied the murder. The defense theory was that one of the children was born dead, and that the bruised body and fractured skull occurred some way in the mother's agony during the partition. The argument was that the woman did not know her real condition for a time, and that when it was known, neither she or her brother knew what was proper to do in such emergency, and that because of Rans Wade's humiliation at the disgrace of his sister, and his desire to shield her and relatives from the exposure of her giving birth to a bastard child, caused him to neglect to send for a doctor, and also to attempt to carry her out of the country. It was not charged in the indictment that Rans Wade was the father of the children, and no evidence was offered as to this report. They were tried for the murder of one of the children, and the verdict of the jury was—guilty; and their punishment fixed at imprisonment for life in the State penitentiary.

NOTE. Mary Wade claims that a man by the name of Sullivan is the father of the children; that after accomplishing her ruin he fled the country. She says that her brother's only crime is in refusing to turn against her in her hour of disgrace as everybody else did; that she never much liked Sullivan; and that this was her first offense.

Rans Wade states that the children were born dead. He says that he declined to send for a doctor or other help, or to tell any neighbors of the facts, because of a sense of shame.

Report says that Mary Wade, several times previously, has had the appearance of being enceinte, and after a time appearance would disappear; and that no much as Sullivan was ever in the neighborhood. No proof as to such reports was brought out.

Mary Wade was 28 years old at the time she was arrested, and she has the appearance of a woman steeped in crime. She looks haggard, hopeless and ruined, and claims to be agonized more because of her brother's fate than for her own. She says she deserves to be punished—not for murder.

Rans Wade is 47 years old—a farmer—was never married; and was never charged with crime before this. He was a confederate soldier, and by report made a good one. Since his arrest, two years ago, the jailer at times allowed him very great liberty, and time and again he could have made his escape. Day after day, and night after night, he has been upon the streets without guard or atten-

Six good agents, with teams, to sell the Twin Spring Bed in Fulton county. Good guaranteed. References required. FOX & SIMS, Clinton, Ky.

Last Wednesday week as Mrs. John Graham was riding home from church horseback, in Fulton county, the horse became frightened and threw him to the ground. In falling Mrs. Graham struck the ground on her head, and the weight of her body being thrown upon her neck it was broken, and she died in a short time. She was 70 years old at the time of her death, and we learn had been riding the horse that caused her death, for nineteen years.—Clinton Democrat.

The Danville Advocate, one of the most conservative and reliable journals in the State, utters a common truth which every experienced editor will recognize: Our experience as an editor and publisher for a number of years has taught us, that no matter how many good things you may say about people and the enterprises in which they are interested, you seldom hear from them words of approval; but if, perchance, something worse than they do not like, you will be quite sure to have a storm of abuse come down upon you that will forcibly remind you of an approaching tornado.

BETTER STILL. We propose selling the TWIN SPRING BED, at $3 50. Call and see us, and save just $1 50.

KISTNER & GARDNER, Hickman, Ky.

The Fulton Circuit Court closed its business yesterday afternoon, and was then only waiting on the grand jury to get through its labors, for final adjournment. Four persons were convicted for terms in the penitentiary. The grand jury has returned more indictments than any since the war. It returned twenty odd the larger portion of which were for violations of the temperance laws.

OPENING! MRS. ADDIE JONES, has just returned from St. Louis, where she has been purchasing her stock of FALL MILLINERY GOODS, and respectfully announces that she is now opening one of the finest selections of Fashionable Goods ever brought to this market.

THE WALLACKS.—The Wallacks closed their exhibitions here Wednesday night, being into the third week of their engagement. They held good houses surprisingly for so long a stay—the house the last night being well filled. During their stay they afforded infinite amusement to our play going people, and won high position in popular favor. Their entertainments were chaste, cultivated, and moral; and the pieces they attempt to play are always very cleverly rendered. They promise to visit Hickman again—some time—when the new Hall is completed.

NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS! MR. H. BUCHANAN has returned from New York and Boston. He is now opening one of the most complete Stock of Goods ever brought to the Hickman market. Call and examine them. In Style, Quality, or Price, he cannot be beat by any market.

MARRIED. GHOLSON-POWELL.—In Hickman, on the morning of the 15th inst., at the Methodist church, by the pastor, Rev. E. K. Bradford, Mr. F. F. GHOLSON, of Cairo, Ill., and Miss Mary POWELL, of Hickman, (daughter of Mr. J. W. Powell). No cards.

Quite a host of friends assembled at the church at the appointed hour to witness the nuptial ceremonies. The bridal party entered the church at 7:30 preceded by the happy strains of the wedding march—the bride leaning upon the arm of her father, and the bridegroom attended by Mrs. James Wear, a sister of the bride. The attendants were Mr. Lloyd Gholson and Miss Lela Powell, Mr. Charles Douglas and Miss Rosa Davis. After the ceremony the party immediately proceeded to the depot where they took the 8:30 train, for an extended bridal tour through Central Kentucky. Miss Mary is a good and true woman, and Mr. Gholson reflects credit upon himself in joining the heart of such an estimable lady. We can not speak too highly of the moral and religious worth of this young couple. We pray Heaven's choicest blessings upon them.

On the 14th inst., at Fulton, Ky., WILL K. HARRIS and Miss Mary Powell were united in marriage. School Law. It is surprising to find how few people read and study the school law. Many teachers are as little posted in the school law as they are in the postal law, the stock law or the road law. Would it not pay us to study the law some and find out what it does require? We are already to find fault with the system and suggest that the legislature make some change in the law, when half the time there is a provision in the law to remedy the very evil of which we complain. It is very common to begin to decry the entire system about this time of year, because the pro rata is so low. Almost every year there has been a decrease, and the people are very anxious to blame somebody. The truth is, many of the best friends of education have long since been convinced that the State fund is too large. Few states in the Union pay as large a pro rata as Kentucky. I believe no other State pays as much to all the pupils out of the State treasury as Kentucky. Still our school system is not in as flourishing a condition as some of our neighbors, who have younger systems than ours.

The truth is neither our legislators nor the teachers understand the workings of the school-system. Our law makers try to amend the law at every sitting of the legislature, but they know so little of the law that they do not know what the real needs of the country are.

We are constantly trying experiments in our schools, that have proved failures long since in other States. If some one proposes measures that would bring our old common wealth abreast of the times the members are afraid to take hold of the matter for fear it would be unpopular. The truth is the candidate for legislative honors soon finds that the public school system has many enemies who are opposed to everything that looks to the improvement of the schools.

Others who claim to be friends to the system manifest such supreme indifference in the matter that the immediate soon finds he would better turn his attention to more popular topics. But who is to blame for this indifference? No doubt the masses are culpable, but the teachers themselves are more to blame than any one else.

Every other profession holds its meetings, adopts its resolutions, and makes its suggestions to the members of the legislature. Teachers are brought together once a year by force and of law law through their business as rapidly as possible, usually pass a few commendatory resolutions at the close of their meeting which they forget themselves before they are outside of the school-room, and never trouble themselves to know whether their representatives see them or not. True there is often a body of teachers in attendance at the legislature who make a few suggestions, but three out of four of these men are interested in the school law they want changed or have some other axe to grind. The amendments to the school-law are often so clearly in the interest of a few particular schools that the friends of education are compelled to oppose them.

Other members feel it to be their duty to do everything in their power to cripple the entire system. So, between the open enemies, the pretended friends who wish to line their own pockets, and the careless and indifferent of the real friends of the system, no wonder it does not accomplish much. What we particularly need is professional teachers who understand the school law themselves, and are willing to explain the matter to their patrons. There are too many persons engaged in school work whose interest is bounded by the number of dollars they receive.

SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 4, Fulton county, Ky., Sept. 4, 1880. Kind friends of the Educational Department, and readers of the Courier: I shall attempt to give you a brief description of our little school. I came here twelve months ago last July. I found many brilliant minds and bright eyes. I attempted to do my duty cheerfully, and my efforts were appreciated by my pupils and patrons. I returned last July and resumed my school work. I have enrolled fifty pupils this term, have taught thirty four days and made an average of thirty six. My highest number in attendance was forty six, and the lowest number twenty eight. If any of our teachers, or any other friend to the cause of education, will call and deliver a lecture or an address we shall be pleased to hear it. Professors Saunders and Caldwell are specially invited. A visit from either of you would be appreciated by our people. Our school house and furniture are inferior in quality, but a more social, hospitable people cannot be found in the State. They are attempting to press forward, and with the aid of a few live educators to address them, I hope we shall succeed. As our patrons are anxious to see every means in their power for the advancement of their children, and the pupils themselves anxious to learn, we beg the friends of education to lead us their aid. Let us be awake and active, and form our lives as we would have them appear when the records are unsealed and read in public.

SACIE KIMBLE.

Barren Waste Him. The Louisville Post thus graphically points the new aspirant for Congressional honors of this District: It is however in personal appearance that Mr. Rice is most remarkable. Take a loaf of dough, let it remain under a tropical sun, fashion it so as to resemble somewhat a human face with a broad mouth, hairless chin, sharp eyes, thin lips, flat forehead, and a few twisted horseshoe hairs stuck in for teeth, and you have some idea of the features of this curious looking individual. The rest of his body seems in sympathy with his old and grotesque face. His feet are as large as those of the famous man of Derby. His legs are long and lankling. His body is very short for his height; and his complexion so "ague smitten" that you would suppose him to be constantly drawing about six feet of malaria.

The Best I Ever Knew Of. J. O. Sterkey, a prominent and influential citizen of Iowa City, says: I have had Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for several years, and have used every remedy, without relief. I tried Shiloh's Kidney Pills, which entirely cured me. Price 75 cents. Sold by BUCK & COWGILL.
